SAN FRANCISCO'S TILDEN HOTEL CONCLUDES 2018 TILDEN ART SERIES WITH LOCAL ARTIST MIKE GOSBEE

Boutique Hotel Celebrates San Francisco's Art Scene in a Year-End Reception

SAN FRANCISCO (November 8, 2018) – Tilden Hotel announces abstract artist Mike Gosbee as the hotel's featured artist in the latest installment of its growing Tilden Hotel Art Program. In a dedicated commitment to shine a light on San Francisco's spirited creativity and engaging community, Gosbee's art will be displayed in the lobby for eight weeks, beginning December 4, providing a space for thought and respectful discussion for hotel guests and locals alike.

To kick off the two-month residency, the hotel will host a welcome reception on Tuesday, December 4 from 5-8 p.m. to honor Gosbee in what is known as Tilden Tuesday. The event is a bimonthly art gathering that takes place on the first Tuesday of every other month. Free and open to all, the night features live music and complimentary small bites and beverages crafted by The Douglas Room, the hotel's signature speakeasy-style bar. All past artists spotlighted as part of the hotel's 2018 series will attend the event with art available for purchase.

"We are deeply committed to supporting the local San Francisco community, and our ongoing artist showcase provides a unique opportunity for locals and guests to engage directly with the talented artists," said Jason Webb, general manager of the Tilden Hotel. "We are proud to provide an avenue for rising artists to display and sell their work and play a role in keeping our city's culture alive, approachable, and accessible."

Tilden Hotel Art Program 2018 Featured Artists

APRIL: Allen Ellison

Ellison helped launch the Tilden Hotel Art Program as the first showcased artist with works focused on digital photography of highly experimental portraits, cityscapes and abstract photographs (water, smoke, bubbles, etc.).

JUNE: Tan Sirinumas with Poetry by Jesse James Johnson

Originally from Thailand, Sirinumas combines poetry, photography and sculpture to create three-dimensional designs, which articulate the meeting of San Francisco architecture and nature, and the poetry of personal history and memory, layered with his immense love for his home in San Francisco.

AUGUST: Janet Williams

Williams' Mindscapes is a series of photographs that range from various adventures at Burning Man to daily San Franciscan scenes observed. It also includes self-portraits, Rorschach-style ink blots and excerpts of personal poetry collaged together to make a personal mindscape.

OCTOBER: Chris Cook

Cook is a multi-talented artist and musician who works in a variety of mediums, including textile screen-printing, decoupage, mural painting and electronic-based installations. He is heavily involved in the San Francisco art scene and works regularly with several non-profit organizations such as The Central City SRO Collaboration (CCSRO) and CounterPulse.

DECEMBER: Mike Gosbee

Inspired by the Dada art movement, Gosbee is drawn to abstract pieces for the process in which he finds the beauty in chance configurations, the overlooked layers and its complexity. Gosbee creates ceramics and collages of rearranged ripped and cut paper.

Tilden Hotel Art Program is supported through the local community, the Tilden Art Committee and its partner Hospitality House, whose community program has funded studios for local artists with socioeconomic struggles. Each year, more than 3,500 artists access the program. 100 percent of proceeds of art purchased at Tilden Tuesday will go directly to the artists.
